Privacy Statement

At DigitalOmics, we respect your privacy and are committed to protecting any personal data you share with us. This Privacy Statement explains how we collect, use, and safeguard your information when you visit our website or contact us.

1. Information We Collect

We keep data collection to a minimum. We may collect personal data in the following ways:

- Direct Communications: When you reach out to us via email or submit an inquiry regarding career opportunities or consulting services, we collect your name, email address, and any project details or messages you provide.
- Technical Data: Standard server logs may automatically record basic technical data such as your IP address, browser type, operating system, and referring pages for website security and operational performance.

2. How We Use Your Information

We use the information we collect strictly for legitimate business and communication purposes:

- Responding to Inquiries: Answering your consultation requests, project inquiries, or service proposals.
- Evaluating Applications: Assessing job applications or CVs submitted via email.
- Website Security: Ensuring the security, stability, and proper functioning of our website infrastructure.

3. Data Sharing and Disclosure

We do not sell, trade, or rent your personal information to third parties. We will only share your information if required by law, legal process, or to protect the rights, property, or safety of DigitalOmics and its users.

4. Data Security

We implement appropriate technical and organizational security measures to protect your personal information against unauthorized access, alteration, disclosure, or destruction.

5. Your Rights & Contact

You have the right to request access to, correction of, or deletion of any personal data we hold about you. To exercise these rights or if you have any questions regarding this Privacy Statement, please contact us via e-mail.